

Hello, Sid Roth here. Welcome to my world where it's naturally supernatural. My guest proves the Biblical Feast of Passover unlocks mysteries in the book of Revelation. This feast is a blueprint for you to understand the end times. Next:

Is there a supernatural dimension? A world beyond the one we know? Is there life after death? Can our dreams contain messages from heaven? Is God ready to bring a tsunami wave of healing onto planet Earth today? Join Sid for this edition of It's Supernatural.

Sid Roth: Welcome, Holy Spirit. This is your platform. Take over. I release God's glory in Yeshua's name over everything done this day. Now, most Jewish people that believe in Jesus have had major supernatural encounters with him. This is what happened to my guest, Rabbi Kirt Schneider. I want to find out how he run from being a nice Jewish champion high school wrestler, living in a community that was 90% Jewish, his whole world was Jewish to such a bold spokesman for Jesus. How did it all happen?

Kirt Schneider: Wrestling became my identity. I started wrestling in seventh grade and each year that went by, I became more and more focused until I got to the place like I was a professional athlete. I trained all year long, had one goal, was very, very disciplined, and I got to the place where I felt there wasn't anybody that I couldn't beat. And I felt so secure, and so powerful, and so controlled, in that environment. I even got a small scholarship to wrestle in college. But what happened was when I walked off that wrestling mat after wrestling my last match in high school, Sid, just like that, that quick, as soon as I walked off that wrestling mat, it was like I didn't know who I was anymore because I realized going forward in life, wrestling didn't mean a hill of beans anymore.

I was the oldest child. So about to leave home on my own, going to college and wrestling wasn't reality. It wasn't what my world was going to be any longer, and so I lost my identity. I didn't have purpose anymore. I was afraid, realizing that I wasn't in control anymore and there were forces at work in the universe that were more powerful than I, like death, and I was in a tailspin. When I went to school to the University of Tampa, I spent as much time that first year sleeping in my dorm room just to escape the torment I was in. I didn't know what to do with it. I literally felt the devil laughing at me, almost possessing me, making me laugh at myself. Even though I had no formal theological training about a devil, I could feel them. So I'm very, very lost, very lost, searching for answers.

Eventually, I drop out of college thinking maybe if I made a lot of money, I'd feel a little bit better knowing that money wasn't the answer because we grew up in a fairly wealthy neighborhood, but I didn't know what to do. Maybe it'll help a little. So I'm in the process of trying to put together this business venture and somebody gave me a book. Well, actually what it was, I was a sales manager for an encyclopedia company. So I met one of the other sales managers one day. He told me about this book he was reading called "Autobiography of a Yogi" about this guru from India that supposedly could levitate off the ground. And Sid, it really sounded fascinating to me. I thought, "Man, think of what bliss you'd feel levitating off the ground."

So I went out and bought the book, first book I ever bought in my life with my own money. In the middle of the book, I went to sleep one night. Now, I never heard anything about Jesus growing up. He was as far away to me as the man on the moon. But this night, in the middle of reading this New Age book, I go to sleep, 1978. It was a hot August night. Never did LSD in my life. Just to set that record straight. I'm woken from my sleep in the middle of the night into what I describe as a state of conscious awareness. Suddenly I'm aware that I'm not asleep anymore. I'm heightened, like what's going on. I'm aware that I'm aware.

And in that state in an instant, I had a vision in the night. In color, Jesus appeared on the cross. I could see the terrain that the cross was staked in. There were people in the distance looking at him, Sid, as he was being crucified, and then a ray of red light from straight through the sky, from even above the blue, a beam of red light about this thick beamed down on Jesus' head. And when I saw that ray of red light come through the sky onto his head, I knew the light was coming from God. I understood the symbolism, and I knew that God had just revealed himself to me and showed me that Jesus was the way to him.

Sid Roth: Okay, so you have this revelation of Jesus. You go home to tell your parents the good news. How'd that go?

Kirt Schneider: Oh, yes, sir. Well, I was actually living in my parents' home at that time. But I got up the next morning, and I told them what happened. I was so excited because I had no idea the reaction I was going to get because like I said, Jesus was never brought up in my home. I was just so excited. Now I had hope. And they didn't react much for a few days. But then I started telling everybody about it, and I knew a lot of people. So somebody eventually said to me, "You need to go get a New Testament." So I went and got a New Testament, started devouring the New Testament, threw out "Autobiography of a Yogi" when I realized the teaching of the New Testament was different than the New Age book, and then I'd go to my dad, I'd say, "Dad, look at this verse." God was reconciling the world to himself through Christ. And all of a sudden when they saw how serious I was and that I was continuing, they panicked.

The first thing they did was they hired the most famous de-programmer in the country, Ted Patrick. They flew him and his team in from California. My dad told me, "Don't make plans on Sunday. We're going to go talk to somebody about buying a restaurant, and we'll be in business together." So that Sunday comes. They drove me to the hotel. We went into the room where I thought we were going to a business meeting. The door closes behind me, inside the room waiting was a short, distinguished looking man in a three piece suit. That was Ted Patrick. He had two bodyguards with him about 6'2", 200 pounds. Door closes behind me and Ted Patrick looks at me and says, "Kirt, we're going to talk about cults."

Then they flipped on a projector, started showing a film of the Hare Krishnas, pointed to one of the little kids in the Hare Krishna sect that was dancing around. And Ted said to me, "You see that kid? I can't help that kid. All he's ever known is Hare Krishna. But you," he looked at me, "you've been living for 20 years like a normal person, and I consider it a personal challenge. I'm going to snap you out of this." I stood up, I said, "I'm not programmed. I just believe that Jesus is the Messiah." He said, "Well, you got nothing to worry about." I said, "Well, can I leave?" And one of the big goons said, "Sit down." So I knew I wasn't going anywhere.

So I asked permission to go into the bathroom that was in the hotel room there, and they said, "Yeah, you can go to the bathroom." So I went into the bathroom, got on my knees. I said, "Lord, I don't know where this is going, but I ask you to keep me." So bottom line is they brought me back to my home that night. One of the goons slept in my bedroom. Next day, we got in my van, and we drove to the rehabilitation house that they had set up in San Diego, California where they took me to the beach in the day and the bar at night, hoping if they could just get me away from whoever they thought was programming me, I'd snap out of it.

Sid Roth: They didn't realize no human agency even spoke to you.

Kirt Schneider: Yeah, I actually felt bad for my parents that they spent so much money for nothing.

Sid Roth: I want to hear about the end time blueprint in the Feast of Passover. Be right back.

We'll be right back to It's Supernatural.

When you submit a prayer request to sidroth.org/pray, we print it out and place it inside of this basket. The basket is then taken to our prayer room where every morning each team member selects a stack of prayer requests, reads through them carefully, and prays for each one individually. So if you or someone you know needs prayer, please submit your prayer request to us at sidroth.org/pray or by calling or texting to (704) 943-6503.

We now return to It's Supernatural.

Sid Roth: So Kirt goes to an anti-spirit-filled Bible college, he gets married, he gets filled with the Holy Spirit. You're a maverick all the way.

Kirt Schneider: Praise God.

Sid Roth: And now you say the only book the first church had was the Tanakh, the Jewish Scriptures, and Jesus filled the entire old covenant up with meaning. Explain.

Kirt Schneider: Well, that's so true. And you think about the fact that the New Testament believers that we read about, they didn't have the New Testament like you and I have it today. All they had was the Hebrew Bible. And remember the story how after Yeshua was crucified and the disciples were shipwrecked. I mean, they didn't know what happened to him. They had left everything to follow him, believing he would liberate Israel from Rome and that he was the Messiah, and now he's crucified. They don't have revelation yet about what has happened about the resurrection. They're not fully convinced.

And so they're walking down a road on the way to an Emmaus and they're downcast. And the scripture says, as you know, said that somebody appeared to them that look to them like a stranger, but it was actually Yeshua. It was Jesus. And it says that the stranger took them on a journey through the law of Moses, the prophets, and the Psalms revealing to them how the Christ was going to suffer, and then he opened their eyes, and they saw that this stranger was actually Jesus. And then they saw Jesus all through the law of Moses, the prophets and the Psalms. How it was all already there but their eyes just needed to be opened.

Sid Roth: Give me a little bit of Jewish understanding of the blood.

Kirt Schneider: The blood of Yeshua is so... There's not even words that I can speak that convey the depth of the power of the blood of Jesus. It's what separates him from every other spiritual pathway to God. The fact that God himself clothed himself in humanity, died on the cross, spilling his blood... His blood came out representing that his life had been given. That is the only means of forgiveness that is possible for mankind to be reconciled to his creator because the law of justice and mercy is this: God can't forgive sin just because somebody says, "Oh, I'm sorry I did that. Forgive me. It was wrong." The holiness of God demands justice. And so God created justice when Jesus, the innocent one, shed his blood dying in the guilty one's place. It's called substitutionary sacrificial atonement, and it's all through the entire Hebrew Bible from the very beginning, even beginning with Passover, all the Hebrew scriptures are about God forgiving mankind through blood atonement, an innocent one dying on behalf of the guilty.

Sid Roth: Now you teach that Isaac was a perfect picture of what was coming.

Kirt Schneider: Judaism believes that God's grace after the fall of Adam and Eve, that the grace of God was largely cut off from the world until Abraham offered up Isaac unto the Lord. And when Abraham offered up Isaac to the Lord on Mount Moriah, then the grace of the Lord was once again released to Israel on the earth. The reason this story is so important, Sid, is that in the story, Abraham represents God the father. Isaac represents Yeshua, but here's what many people have not seen. Most Christians, when they think of Isaac or when they've seen a picture of Abraham sacrificing Isaac, they picture Isaac to be 11 years old or a younger.

Sid Roth: Yeah, a kid.

Kirt Schneider: A kid, like Isaac was just someone that was doing what his parents forced him to do. But in Rabbinic Judaism, as you know, we believe that Isaac was actually 37 years old when Abraham offered him up, which changes the whole narrative of the story.

Sid Roth: Yeah Isaac-

Kirt Schneider: Isaac was a willing sacrifice.

Sid Roth: He could have defended himself easily.

Kirt Schneider: Exactly, exactly. So Abraham God the father, his love, his love, and then Isaac 37, a full grown man, by an act of his own will offers himself up so that God's grace could be released to the world, the perfect picture of Yeshua.

Sid Roth: You know, many Christians are confused and don't really understand the role of Israel in the last days. You give us a little understanding.

Kirt Schneider: Well, it began with Israel. It's going to end with Israel. The gift and calling of God upon Israel is irrevocable. Yeshua is not going to come back as we know until the Jewish people are saying, and this is according to the words of Jesus himself. Jesus said, you will not see me again. He was saying to the Jewish people until you're saying [foreign language 00:14:04] blessed is he that comes in the name of the Lord. Yeshua is not coming back until there's a mass of Jewish people that have received him and are calling out for him to return.

Sid Roth: Why would you say among even good Christians, many their eyes are blurry when it comes to the Jew in Israel, yet it's so clear in the scriptures. I can speak and you can speak right forever from the scriptures about God's plan for the Jew and the Gentile in last age, the one new humanity. Why the blurriness?

Kirt Schneider: I think it's for several reasons. I think that as the gospel went out and Jewish believers began to become excommunicated from the synagogues, just as Jesus predicted they would be thrown out of the synagogues, and Paul was sent to the Gentiles because the majority of Jews were not receiving the message of Yeshua. Eventually, what happened was is the gospel spread amongst Gentiles. They had no understanding of the Hebrew scriptures or of the role of Jewish people. So that's one reason why Gentiles are uneducated about the importance and the role of the Jew in God's plan of redemption.

I think the other reason, Sid, personally is that pastors are threatened by it. I think pastors don't want to give Israel their rightful place because somehow it makes them feel less important. And so it's not being taught. And then also it's I think fair to say that many pastors have never been taught themselves, so they don't know to teach it. So as a result of these three things, much of the church has not been educated on the importance of the role of Jewish people.

Sid Roth: Okay, explain some of the blueprint in the Feast of Passover for the end times?

Kirt Schneider: Over 20 times in the book of Revelation, Yeshua is referred to as the Lamb. John the Baptist introduced Yeshua as the Lamb of God. I realize this is Passover language, and so I understood that to understand the book of Revelation in which Yeshua is predominantly portrayed as the Lamb, I realized I needed to understand the book of Revelation through the lens of the Passover. So if you look at Passover, for example, Israel was in Egypt when the plagues fell. And in the same way, I believe that the Church will be in the world until the final wrath of God is poured out, even as Israel was in Egypt until God's final wrath was poured out when he drowned all the Egyptians in the sea.

So there's a lot of typology here. Of course, Yeshua is prefigured in the Passover from the lamb in Passover. Pharaoh is a figure of Satan. The sea parting, when the Lord parted the sea so that Israel supernaturally crossed over to the promised land. That's a symbol of the rapture.

Sid Roth: I can't wait for them to read all the wonderful resources we're making available. But when we return, Rabbi Schneider will tell of a prophetic dream that brings clarity to the last days. Be right back.

Kirt Schneider: Now more than ever, God's people need to be grounded in their faith. We're moving into a time on earth where there's going to be such pressure to compromise, and those of us that are taking a stand for Jesus are going to be accused of being narrow-minded, bigoted, hateful. We can't let that stop us. And unless you know, beloved ones, that the blood of Jesus is the only means of salvation that our creator has made, you're going to get washed away by compromise.

With Rabbi Schneider's new book, you will see that for thousands of years, the Bible from beginning to end is the prophetic signpost pointing to God's son Jesus as savior of the world. No longer doubt and become totally positive that Jesus is the Messiah. See how the New Testament writers use numerous passages from the Old Testament to show that Jesus is the Messiah for the Jewish people and every person in the world.

Beloved, the reason this is so important for us is because if we don't get this, we are going to be spiritually weak.

We now return to It's Supernatural.

Sid Roth: Rabbi Kirt Schneider, tell me about this prophetic end time dream you had.

Kirt Schneider: I was in an old fashioned white country-like church, just an old structure, white steeple. There was about 200 people in the church. I was just in the pews with everybody else. We were all standing, all 200 of us, and every single one of us was so focused intensely on worshipping Jesus. We were singing to him. But I've never experienced a sense of that type of unity and intensity and focus on Jesus. And we were asking him to return. And I sensed in my spirit the reason we were so intense on asking Yeshua to return was because people were hurting so bad and life had become so hard for people. And not only was I experiencing what was going on in the church building as all 200 of us were worshipping Yeshua together asking him to return with such fervency, but I also in the vision saw what was happening outside the church in the streets. And I saw the oppression, Sid, that people were living under.

And then the Holy Spirit spoke to me and he said to me, "The anointing that you have that can transform those people that are on the outside that are living under oppression, the anointing you have to transform them is hope." And that was a message to me that we carry an anointing, God's people of hope, and this is what the world needs. Not just hope in the motivational sense of the world, but the hope of Jesus, the hope that we can have in him in this dangerous world of chaos, to be protected in this world, to have peace of mind in this world, to live in victory in this world, to have purpose in this world. We have that hope, and it's transferrable. And so many of God's people are afraid to witness. What I have found is generally speaking, when I witness the hope of Jesus to people, people are thankful and it makes their day.

Sid Roth: That's the national anthem of Israel, Hatikvah.

Kirt Schneider: Amen.

Sid Roth: The hope the is in knowing God, not knowing about God. That's a good first step, but knowing him, experiential knowledge, the way Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob and David knew God. They weren't perfect, but they love God, and they had something the world doesn't understand bubbling up within them. They had supernatural joy despite what might have been happening all around. And that's what's about ready to happen to believers that sell out to God. And I'll tell you what, you repeat this prayer with me, and mean it to the best of your ability, and you will have Hatikvah inside of you. Say this out loud and mean it. Dear God.

Dear God.

Sid Roth: I've made many mistakes.

I've made many mistakes.

Sid Roth: Of which I'm so sorry.

Of which I'm so sorry.

Sid Roth: I believe the blood of Yeshua.

I believe the blood of Yeshua.

Sid Roth: The blood of Jesus.

Kirt Schneider: [foreign language 00:23:56] Shalom. The Lord bless you and keep you. The Lord make us face shine on you and be gracious to you. The Lord lift you up by his countenance and the Lord, beloved one, give you an increased measure of His peace.

Sid Roth: Shalom.
